

Showcasing research from Dr Benjamin Schumann's laboratory, Chemical Glycobiology Laboratory, Francis Crick Institute, and Department of Chemistry, Imperial College London, London, UK.

Expanding the repertoire of GalNAc analogues for cell-specific bioorthogonal tagging of glycoproteins

Finding the right fit: Sugars are designed to be used by cells that carry enzymes with specifically fitting active sites.

As featured in:

See Benjamin Schumann et al.,
RSC Chem. Biol., 2024, 5, 1002.